What will happen to your business in the event of the sudden death or disability of the CEO, a shareholder or other key players, or in the event of other unplanned events such as the termination of an owner's employment, the divorce of an owner or a major dispute among the owners?

Properly written documents addressing how ownership and management of the business will be handled going forward in the event of the occurrence of such a crisis could be crucial to the continuation of the business.

And mark your calendars for our next seminar, Wednesday, December 9, 8:00 am, for a discussion of Employee Pay and Classification and Proposed Changes to the Fair Labor Standards Act. (Additional details will follow.)

The Business Advisory Group is made up of some of our firm's top business, tax, trusts and estates and employment lawyers. Their goal is to first understand your business, and then to help you be successful by providing valuable and creative legal advice to improve the operation of your business now and to prevent problems in the future. The members of the Business Advisory Group will strive to be your trusted advisors and counselors.
